JUNE 1973

PROGRAM FOR COLUMBIA SYMPOSIUM ON "FORCES SHAPING MODERN GREECE"

The third international symposium sponsored by the Modern Greek Studies Association will be held in New York from November 9th to November 11th 1973 in cooperation with the Institute on East Central Europe at Columbia University. All sessions will be held in the center for Continuing Education, International Affairs center, Columbia University, 420 W. 118th Street, New York City.

All panels will be two hours in length, with two running concurrently in each of the five sessions. Each paper will be twenty minutes in length in the three-paper panels, or fifteen minutes in length in the four-paper panels, with the remainder of the time devoted to discussion.

The members of the Executive Committee and the Association itself owes a great debt of thanks to John Petropoulos, Vice-President of MGSA and Co-Chairman of the Program Committee, and to all the others on the program committee who have worked so hard to create this symposium: Theodore Coulombis, American University; John Iatrides, Southern Connecticut State College; Harry Psomiades, Co-Chairman, Queens College; Evan Vlachos, Colorado State University. The local committee should also be thanked: Istvan Deak, Honorary Chairman, Columbia University; and Angela Hero, Chairman, Fordham University.
